

City may back off on project

PLEASANTON — City Council, acting as the Pleasanton Redevelopment Agency, last night indicated that they will back off from the large scale redevelopment project originally envisioned.

"There will be a scaling down of the project and a definition of the powers of the agency," said Mayor Ed Kinney before a sizeable crowd at the Pleasanton Justice Court.

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire said, "I think what is desired is not to kill the redevelopment project per se. I think a scaled down plan would be much more palatable."

Co-chairman Wally Mayer of the Committee Against Redevelopment (CARD) said, "People have a problem with faith in city government right now. Rightly or wrongly, it exists."

Kinney echoed that feeling when he announced the intention of the meeting. He said the council wanted to "call a meeting to assure CARD that we are officially listening."

City manager Bill Edgar told the gathering, "The city staff is not doing anything until it gets further input from the citizens."

However, Kinney stated, "I think we should set a deadline of Oct. 15 for citizen input."

Ben Fernandez of the chamber of commerce reported that the chamber's seven man committee to draw up a counter version of the redevelopment plan has been meeting regularly.

"There's just too much good in this plan to scrap it," he said the members were beginning to come to a consensus as to what should be in the plan.

"We're going to shoot for the 14th," said Fernandez, "and we hope you'll have something to sink your teeth into."

Although no public testimony was taken at last night's meeting Kinney assured the public that the council was listening.

"I feel the council has a real good finger on the pulse of the public," the mayor said.

The public's last official chance for input at a meeting will come Nov. 10 when the hearing that was continued in August will be reopened.

Bernard Gerton is heart attack victim

Bernard Gerton was listed in "serious but stable condition" on Monday in Elko, Nevada hospital.

The former mayor of Pleasanton and well known valley realtor suffered "a massive heart seizure" while hunting in Nevada. It was not for several hours after that attack that he could be brought to the nearest hospital, friends report.

CalTrans will move building Schoolhouse saved

DUBLIN — The 119-year-old Murray Schoolhouse was pulled from the path of state bulldozers yesterday when the California Department of Transportation (CalTrans) notified valley historical groups the state agreed to move the building to a site of the groups' choosing.

The announcement also cancelled the building's auction scheduled for tomorrow.

The Dublin Historical Preservation Association will buy the building from CalTrans and will take possession the same day the schoolhouse is moved.

CalTrans spokesman Don Miller said approval came from CalTrans Deputy District Director B.C. Bachold. The public auction was cancelled and the agreement to sell made with the historical group "in the interest of the historical society and the time they put into finding a site."

Miller said the Alameda County Board of Supervisors' decision to seek designation of the building as an historical site also weighed heavily in the decision.

DHPA spokesman Neil Miller (no relation to CalTrans' Don Miller) said the group wants to develop a cultural center on the order of Williamsburg, Virginia. The building tentatively is scheduled for a Nov. 20 move to Donlon Road near Old St. Raymond's Church.

The area would form a heritage and cultural center for the Amador Valley and serve as a site for community affairs, town meetings and theatre groups.

CalTrans' Miller said the state had been shown a preliminary site near the church and that a commitment must be made by Nov. 1. "We must have a location and firm date of access to the site by Nov. 20," he added.

DHPA said they will set a site by Oct. 15. The area should be able to accommodate the reconstruction of some other historical buildings.

Funds to buy the building reportedly came from private donations.

CalTrans purchased the building and land from the Primitive Baptist Church and said it could not then donate the building and procure a new site for the recently formed DHPA.

DHPA's next goal is to acquire the old blacksmith building across from Romley's shopping center, Neil Miller said. It, too, would be moved to the future cultural center.

The group also will start collecting historical paraphernalia to be housed in a museum of community history at the cultural center.

Donlon Road to the north of I-580 is the hub of historical Dublin. It served as a stage coach stop and corral for wagon lines transverse from San Jose to Sacramento and across the Dublin Canyon to Oakland.

As of Sept. 30

MSD enrollment is 5,464

Murray Elementary School District trustees got an updated report on construction of Dolan Intermediate School in the Silvergate area of Dublin and learned that the district enrollment is 5,464 as of Sept. 30.

Dolan is expected to take the pressure off Donlon School in Pleasanton, as far as the junior high school enrollment for the district is concerned.

The school is expected to be ready for occupancy by January of 1977.

The enrollment report indicates the largest number of students enrolled in seventh grade (883), followed by sixth grade (853) and eighth grade (633).

A further breakdown shows that 1707 are enrolled in Grades 1-3, 550 in kindergarten, 1,811 in Grades 4-6 and 1,316 in Grades 7-8.

Murray, as of Sept. 30, had 225 full time equivalent teachers.

Trustees also received an essential learning objectives update report. The report also included a community survey question, asking "Do you feel there should be certain learning objectives students should achieve by the time they complete the eighth grade?" Of the 374 responses, 351 persons checked "yes," seven "no," nine had "no opinion" and seven "no response."

The same question answered by district teachers elicited a 113 to 7 positive vote.

Margaret Nelson of the Murray Professional Educators Group said they had 43 full memberships, four administrative memberships and eight one-half memberships as of Sept. 30.

The Murray Teachers Association said it had elected the following officers for the term starting Nov. 1 and continuing through October of 1976: Joyce Spreyer, president; Kenneth De Bono, vice president; Leonore Turner, secretary; Diane Eaton, treasurer; Doris Battin, zone director for Dublin and Nielsen; Lydia Saavedra, zone director for Fallon and Murray; Regina Paulus, zone director for Donlon and Lydiksen, and De Bono, Cronin, Frederiksen and Wells.

De Bono had indicated he will resign the latter post as he holds another office in the organization.

The Murray chapter of the California School Employees

Association lists Estelle Rash as president; Stephen Graves, vice president; Frances Keffeler, secretary; Helen Stevenson, treasurer; James Hambrick, reporter.

Trustees also heard a student council report by Donlon School officers, opened bids for sale of the Kolb site and acted on the 1974-75 consolidated application budget report.

Parks and recreation provided at schools

SAN RAMON — The San Ramon Valley Unified School District board Monday night acted to provide park and recreation facilities at district school sites.

The board had previously indicated it would contract with the local park and recreation group to use schools for recreation.

Trustees first viewed a 40-minute film dealing with the effects of lighting on plant and animal life.

The board also reviewed reports on physical education exemptions, the use of school buses for senior citizens, school vandalism and instructional assistance for 11 Vietnamese students in the school district.

Hot off the presses

Fundamental school outlined

LIVERMORE — The first major report on Livermore's future fundamental school is hot off the press.

A 10-page report will be scrutinized at tonight's school board meeting, which begins 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center, 685 Las Positas Blvd.

The report outlines, in a slightly less general way than previous reports, what the district's fundamental school will stand for. It also spells out the method that will be used this year to pick out one school to be turned over to a fundamental program.

In September, 1976, the fundamental school will open its doors to offer elementary children a tightly structured program that will remind their parents of the way things were in the fifties and earlier. Here are some of the details from the staff report:

✓ HOMEWORK: One to four nights a week, kindergarten through sixth grade. Assignments may include finishing classroom work, rewriting compositions, studying for tests, watching special TV shows, memorizing, doing research and reading.

✓ STANDARDS: Teachers will be particular about spelling, neatness, grammar and penmanship in all subjects and may flunk a student for shortcomings.

✓ CHARACTER BUILDING: A parent-child handbook on school rules will be printed. Student achievement will be recognized on a special bulletin board where honor rolls, newspaper clippings and classwork will be displayed.

✓ TESTS: At the beginning and end of each year, students will take standardized tests. Scores will be entered in their permanent records and used to monitor teacher and student achievement.

✓ PUNISHMENT: May include discussion, warning, paddling, staying after school and suspension from school.

✓ DRESS CODE: "Comfortable without being sloppy, daring or unsafe." A student handbook will spell out the details.

✓ GRADES: "A,B,C,D,F,I" will be given for achievement, effort and "citizenship" along with written comments "as necessary."

✓ ENROLLMENT: "Strong commitment" on the part of parents and children is a prerequisite. Priority will be given to children who would otherwise have to attend an out-of-neighborhood school.

Next step will be zeroing in on one neighborhood school to be used as the fundamental school, and sorting out teachers who may be interested. Even the custodian is supposed to be a proponent of this type of education, according to the report.

All elementary-school teachers will be asked whether they're interested in working in the fundamental school, and the schools with the most staff interested will be considered for conversion into the fundamental school.

The residents of neighborhoods surrounding the selected schools will be surveyed about their feelings on the fundamental school.

On the basis of staff and community interest, a school — or schools — will be selected. Selection of a principal comes next, then selection of a staff.

'No reason to believe murder' in local death

LIVERMORE — Police say there is "no reason to believe it was murder" in the death of a Livermore man found Friday in a pool of blood with his hands and feet tied.

Herbert Henry Robson, 46, an electronic technician at the Lawrence Livermore Lab, had been dead for several days before he was found by police who were called by neighbors worried about his disappearance.

Police said Robson was found in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor of his residence at 1470 Spruce St.

Police Sgt. Bill Bankert said there were no wounds on the body and no reason to suspect foul play. A note was found nearby, but Bankert refused to comment on its contents.

An autopsy report has been delayed up to two weeks pending laboratory results of tests made on the body, a Coroner's spokesman said.

Reclamation plan needs approval

Planners tour quarry site

Alameda County Bureau County planning commissioners braved yesterday's wind-whipped rain to tour the site of a proposed 154-acre gravel quarry off Stanley Boulevard as prelude to granting final permission for excavation of the site.

The tour was a field inspection of Lone Star Industries' and California Rock and Gravel Company's reclamation plan for the area.

While a quarry permit was granted in 1969, actual excavation of some 24.5 million tons of sand and gravel cannot begin until the Alameda County Board of Supervisors approves the firms' reclamation plans.

Pleasanton, meanwhile, has argued for a solution to the increased flow of gravel trucks expected once the operation begins. The city charges the impact to its roads also must be studied before the final go ahead is granted.

The companies' plans call for a 110-acre "T" shaped pond with a total 44 acres of land fill in the southeast and southwest corners. Some 2,700 feet of the pond would front Stanley Boulevard.

"Although the proposed reclamation would create land forms adaptable to future use, no future land use is designated in the reclamation plan," according to a county planning department staff analysis.

The plan "is designed to facilitate transmission of water from the area along Arroyo Del Valle ... to areas of depletion north and west of the project site," the report continues. The arroyo is the major recharge forebay for the Amador valley ground water sub-basin.

The pond area would provide storage and direct percolation "particularly through the deep and exceptionally porous materials along the southerly part of the site," according to staff.

Reclaimed in conjunction with Kaiser Sand and Gravel and Rhodes-Jamieson quarries, the pond would be one of a "chain of lakes surrounding the quarry area," civil engineer Richard Karn told the commissioners. The lakes would replenish wells at the west end of the valley.

Current reclamation plans for the 20-year project do not necessarily coincide with those of Kaiser and Rhodes-Jamieson, however, he conceded.

The "biggest issue," Karn continued, would be the ratio of the slope along Stanley Boulevard.

Both Lone Star and Cal Rock argue for a 1:1 grade, while the county's staff urges a 2:1 ratio.

The firms claim the more gradual slope would leave some 1.15 million tons of gravel in the ground, while staff argues the more gradual grade is necessary for stability and safety.

Alameda County Planning Commissioners must approve Lone Star Industries and California Rock and Gravel Company's reclamation plans for the 154-acre

"project site" between Shadow Cliffs Regional Park and Isabel Avenue.

Elbow room only

A crowd of nearly 400 artists, organizers, patrons of the arts, community leaders and performers jammed Veterans Memorial Hall in Livermore Friday night for the gala champagne preview of the Festival '75 fine art exhibit. Joann Tucker and Shirley Rogers, Festival '75 performers, and Renee Smith were among well-wishers at the elbow-room-only event.

Planners ponder shopping sites

LIVERMORE — Continuing to reserve two sites for future neighborhood shopping centers — one along E. Stanley Boulevard and one off Springtown Boulevard — will be considered by the planning commission at its meeting Tuesday night.

Commissioners will meet at the Municipal Court Chambers, 39 S. Livermore Ave. starting at 7:30 p.m. A public hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. on the application of Palomar Financial regarding the development of a shopping center at the northeast intersection of I-580 and Springtown Boulevard.

The applicant requests that its Planned Unit Development (PUD) permit No. 2 be amended to extend the commencement and completion dates for developing a center at the site.

The original PUD No. 2 was granted in July 1972 and has been amended every year up to July 1974 (with the exception of 1964 and 1972).

Palomar also asks that the city's pending "CN" (neighborhood commercial) zoning conform to the site.

A staff report on the application recommends the commission approve both requests because the property is "an excellent shopping center site" and CN zoning actually has higher standards than the PUD.

The report also notes that presently there is "minimal support" for a center because the population is estimated to be 3,600 and a population of 6,000 to 8,800 is suggested to support a center.

"The projected ultimate population for the service area will support a shopping center," the report states.

The other shopping center site under consideration is at the southeast corner of E. Stanley Boulevard and Muddell Lane. A rezoning application for the property was discussed last week (in order to reserve the site for a future shopping center) and it was revealed that a Prairie Market is interested in locating on the property.

Commissioners continued the matter to tonight.

The possibility of zoning the land to open space-urban reserve (OS-UR) was suggested last week but a staff report notes that such zoning would be a deterrent to development.

Last week's staff report supported the landowners' (Carlton Group) request for CN zoning.

Other business scheduled tonight is discussion of the downtown parking situation and the possible amendment of the city's General Plan Land Use Element for the area south of I-580 in the vicinity of Portola Avenue.

A study session will follow the commission meeting with three suggested topics: zoning ordinance amendment, public facilities task report prepared by the General Plan consultants, and legislation (HR 3510).

Taking a 'leave of absence' to join VISTA for a year

By LILLY AULT

"It is most interesting to live in an environment where you are a member of the minority," was one of Gretchen Skyes comments the year she and her husband Ernie spent in New Mexico.

The population consisted of 77.7 percent Spanish-American, 13.7 Anglos and 8.6 other (Indian, Black, Oriental). Because the Skyes were "volunteer workers," they were more readily accepted by the natives. They attended a Spanish wedding, had dinner with several Indian families, participated in community activities and attended many different churches. Home conditions are "miserable," according to Gretchen. Many homes do not have running water or bathrooms. "You can see people drinking water out of ditches. Things we take for granted are just not available for these people," she commented.

Ernie and Gretchen, involved with VISTA, (Volunteer in Service to America) left Pleasanton at the end of June, 1974, for Dallas and a training program before becoming residents of New Mexico.

Gretchen was prepared for working with the people in the clinic offering medical assistance. Many of the people had not received medical attention for several years as their hospital was a great distance away with no transportation available.

The clinic to which Gretchen was assigned was in a very small house that had people standing on the porch wanting to receive medical attention. From here, because of the success of the program, the clinic was transferred to the hospital pediatric wing of the hospital. In these quarters they were able to incorporate a small pharmacy and laboratory. There were no dentists.

A dental program with funding is now being started in the schools. Papers are sent home to the parents to help educate the parents and help them understand dental needs.

The clinic program has been operating for only a couple of years, but is becoming more widely accepted. The medical staff is trying to teach the natives the theory of "prevention rather than treatment" in their health care.

The clinic is run by local people with a board of 35 in addition to several doctors, dentists, nurses aids, etc. A clinic day may see many different illnesses treated. Malnutrition, diabetes, and care of the aging are the most common.

Gretchen's main desire was to get "out into the community" to work with the residents, but due to her lack of knowledge of Spanish and difficulty in communicating with the people she was limited to her clinic. She has already signed up for a Spanish class to further her knowledge as she hopes to continue her work in some capacity. New Mexico, however, would not be her choice of a permanent home.

Ernie's assigned duties involved a major water project, covering states in the southern part of the country. Water projects had been established in New Mexico by the local people, but they did not know how to maintain them. Ernie not only taught the people how to keep up the maintenance, but he also showed them the latest methods on installation. He had as many as 400 connections under his supervision.

"Frustration" was one of Ernie's main problems. Things just moved too slow for him. He was used to getting things finished and moving on, but in New Mexico, "they move very slowly," according to Gretchen.

During their stay in New Mexico, Gretchen and Ernie lived in a mobile home, had no telephone and paid $115 per month for rent. "Gas and electric were inexpensive," said Gretchen. Ernie and Gretchen each received $210 per month in pay. Health and medical coverage were supplied. Their traveling expense to and from the location were also paid.

"We never wanted for a thing the whole year," Gretchen commented. "It's amazing how inexpensively one can live on just the necessities of life. You soon realize how materialist things are not needed; you don't start gathering and acquiring things," she went on to say.

Gretchen is trying to determine how she can continue to use the knowledge she has gained from the program. She may go out and give talks to various groups to encourage them to become interested in the program. "You might call it getting on my 'soap box'," she stated laughingly.

shop at night

A number of plants go through a period of dormancy at some point each year. For most plants this period is from November to February. Don't fertilize your plants during this time! — plants don't eat in their sleep any more than we do.

The sun's intensity is considerably less in winter than in summer. As light levels decrease during the winter, photosynthesis slows down and plants take a needed rest during this time. Plants will require less water, as well as less food while they rest.

Plants are also affected by the length of the day. Some short-day plants are the kalanchoes and begonias. If these plants receive light at night, they won't bloom. In my shop I have a very pretty, very expensive kalanchoe that won't produce its pink flowers until it finds a home because of the spotlight on the

As your plants go into dormancy, you will reduce the amount and frequency of waterings. I hope by now you are watering by touch and NOT by schedule.

Some plants even like to be placed in a dark closet and watered just enough to be kept alive. Dry out your caladium, pull off the brown leaves, and put it in the dark without any water for a couple of months. When a new green leaf emerges, place the caladium in good light and start watering once again.

Many people mistakenly discard the plant, thinking it has died. With knowledge about plant dormancy, you'll have a pretty new caladium, all the better for its winter rest.

Dublin Little League will hold elections Oct. 9, 7:30

OAKLAND (AP) — The Boston Red Sox had momentum on their side Monday as they arrived here to prepare for tonight's third game of the American League playoffs against the Oakland A's.

The Red Sox took the first two games of the series and need only one more victory in the best-of-five championship playoff to eliminate the A's, World Champions for the last three years.

Game time tonight is 5:30. Darrell Johnson, Boston's manager, was asked if he thought the A's could come off the deck and win three straight games from his club. He smiled easily.

"Maybe that guy in Kenya knows," he laughed. "I sure don't."

Johnson's Sox survived a late-season hex from an African witch doctor who tried to intervene on behalf of the Baltimore Orioles as they tried to catch Boston for the American League East crown.

They went into the playoffs as underdogs against the championship-toughened A's. But it was Oakland, not Boston, that looked shaky in the first game, committing a record four errors that helped the Sox to a 7-1 victory as Luis Tiant pitched a three-hitter.

In Game 2, Johnson's club proved it could come off the deck. Trailing 3-0 in the fourth inning, Boston roared from behind to overtake the A's and win 6-3 as Carl Yastrzemski and Rico Petrocelli contributed home runs.

Even Oakland Manager Alvin Dark had to admit he was impressed.

Sources of Energy—No. 2 of a series

If California let off enough steam, electricity would be cheaper.

It's hot down below

PG&E has the nation's only geothermal power development — at The Geysers in Sonoma County — where it uses natural steam from deep within the earth to turn turbo-generators to produce electricity. We have built 11 generating units there and 4 more are on the way.

How does it work? At its birth, the earth was a hot, molten mass. As it cooled it formed a crust. The molten mass, called magma, is still cooling beneath the crust. Where depths and other conditions permit, those heat reservoirs can be tapped by wells, and steam is brought to the surface, under control, to spin the turbines.

Our geothermal power costs less than power generated by burning oil. We're continuing the development, but at best, geothermal can satisfy no more than 10% of our needs to serve Northern and Central California.

Diversity: Other sources of energy

PG&E employs five sources of primary energy — oil, natural gas, natural steam (geothermal), nuclear fuel and falling water (hydro power). All are used to produce the electricity for PG&E's interconnected network system. They are "mixed" for maximum efficiency to generate power at the lowest possible cost.

To harness water for power, we have built one of the nation's greatest hydroelectric systems. In "average" rain and snowfall years, hydro provides about 50% of our electric energy. The force of falling water makes the wheels go 'round in the generating plants. Hydro generation neither contaminates nor consumes the water itself; it is returned to the rivers undiminished, to serve agriculture and other vital needs.

Building hydroelectric facilities is expensive, but they are economical to operate. The low cost is one reason why our rates, despite recent increases, remain among the lowest in the nation.

But since nearly all economically acceptable hydro sites have already been developed, oil and natural gas have become more prominent in our energy mix in recent years. Unfortunately the costs of these fossil fuels have been skyrocketing. In just five years, the prices for gas have more than doubled and the cost per barrel of low-sulfur fuel oil has quintupled. All but two of the PG&E electric rate increases requested in the past five years were to offset these higher fuel costs.

The alternative to oil and gas, which are getting more scarce and more costly, is uranium. Nuclear power plants can produce electricity at half the cost of a new oil-fired plant. Our two nuclear units at Diablo Canyon will save our having to buy 24 million barrels of expensive imported oil a year.

These are the good reasons why PG&E and other utility systems, at home and abroad, are building nuclear plants.

Coal one day may be our sixth source of primary energy. We are in the process of acquiring reserves in Utah.

Recent developments in solar power show interesting promise, but its use as a major source is, at best, many years away. Tidal and wind power are still in limited development, and may never become practical for large-scale commercial use, but research continues.

The demand for electricity continues to grow, partly because population itself continues to grow. In 1974 alone, about 100,000 more people were added to PG&E's service area. Energy conservation efforts must continue, but conservation efforts alone will not eliminate our need to build ahead today for your tomorrow.

It's our job to keep you provided with adequate energy and reliable service at the lowest possible cost. And for our part, we intend to do just that.

For your part, we hope you will continue your efforts to conserve energy. It is too precious to waste.

Dave Gottschalk led the way with a 10-yard touchdown sweep in the first quarter.

The Raiders scored in the third quarter on John Bird's 19-yard touchdown run.

Dave Blanchard passed to Mike Moyels for the first score on a 12-yarder. Jeff Finch pulled in a three-yard Blanchard pass for the second score.

Kevin McCann, Jay Knepp and Bonds all played well defensively.

Brian Thompson and Mike Madden broke good runs for the losers.

Glad QB injured in loss to SJ

CATRO VALLEY — Steve Grant's two-play stint as number one Chabot College quarterback came to a sickening climax Saturday night when he broke his leg in a Golden Gate Conference football crucial with San Jose City College. But Grant said yesterday he'll be back next autumn to try and regain the job he first won by default. Grant, the freshman from Dublin High School, became the second Chabot quarterback to get knocked out for the season in two weeks. He was tackled on a broken option play two snaps into the San Jose game. The break came below the knee on his left leg, and required surgery Saturday night at Eden Hospital. Steve is expected to remain there until tomorrow. Sophomore quarterback Don Moore suffered a broken collarbone the week before in Chabot's win over Diablo Valley College. Though he had just three games of college experience, the Gladiators were counting on Grant to pick up for Moore and defeat fourth-ranked San Jose. Without Steve, Chabot lost, 34-7. The Gladiators used third-string quarterback Chuck Stephenson, who himself had just recovered from a damaged ankle. Chuck completed just nine of 26 passes for 102 yards. He suffered five interceptions.

"I think it put the team down when I went out," Grant said yesterday from his hospital bed. "I don't know if they would have won if I had played, it's just that it was so weird to lose two quarterbacks like this." Steve was mended by Dr. Don Rohren, a close friend of the Grant family. Steve played football with Rohren's son Kurt last year at Dublin. Grant is wearing a full length cast that won't come off until February. Grant said he's been given assurance from the doctor that he will be able to play again next season. "I had a big chance to play this year, but this put me right out," Steve said. "I guess I'm taking it pretty good. There's nothing anybody can do. It was just a freak accident. Heck, I didn't expect to play this much."

The fateful play was a Chabot option, in which Grant came down the line with the alternatives of running or pitching the football to his running back.

"We were supposed to option the end down the line, and I guess we got by him all right. But then things got stacked up. Somebody stood me straight up, and then someone else hit me right in the leg. I heard it snap," Grant recalled, "and then it went numb. I knew it was broken."

Grant suffered a cracked bone in his wrist during baseball season last year at Dublin. The injury, however, was incurred on a skim board at the beach. He also broke a finger during his freshman football season in high school.

Stephenson, who now takes over Chabot's offense, had been wearing a cast for his injured ankle. He had played little in Chabot's first three games, all victories. His only backup now is wide receiver Al Munday, a starter who also returns punts. Munday has not played quarterback, but has worked out at the position occasionally.

Ruminating Rayford

Mike Zampa

Rayford Roberson has signed up for 15 units of study in his first semester at San Jose State. In the student trade, that's known as "the full load."

"If I don't make it in the big time," Rayford says, "I've got to make it in education."

Roberson's thinking is always "big." He is a freshman linebacker for the Spartan football team, playing very little, as is the curse of most yearlings. But anyone who knew Rayford, when he was an All-East Bay linebacker at Dublin High, realizes that indefatigable Roberson spirit allows him to look past the bench. Past it to a time when he might earn a good living playing football.

The sport hasn't returned any of his brothers a dime yet, though there were three before him who had superior talent. One was considered the best high school prospect in Texas, and two others were all-time greats at Dublin.

For numerous reasons, they never seriously considered professional football. One was too small, another too married, a third, better suited to basketball.

Now only Rayford remains to fuel those fairytale dreams. And they are still vivid, though he watches more than plays in his first season at San Jose.

Roberson is 6-3, 190, and he is being used at a foreign position. He played inside linebacker in high school, the Spartans have moved him outside. It's only experience, coaches tell him, that keeps Rayford limited to special team duty.

If that's the diagnosis, he says, then that's fine. He'll accept it as a first step to bigger things.

"I'd like to play more, and I feel like I could. But I'm not going to worry about it. I'm still learning, and if I don't play any more than I have, I can just redshirt this year."

Rayford was courted by a couple of Pacific-8 colleges during his senior year in high school, but spurned them all for San Jose.

"Do you realize the potential on this team," Rayford squeals. "Not just the first string, but the guys on the bench. They've got talent too. The guy who caught all those passes against Cal (Gary Dudley pulled in eight for 139 yards) was a third stringer. Can you believe that?"

Rayford is caught up in the new Spartan spirit, handed down by head coach Darryl Rogers. "Football players should hate to lose," Rogers says. "They should hate it so much that they'll never want to lose again."

Once the joke of Pacific Coast football, San Jose State has turned around under the former Fresno State coach. The Spartans won seven last year, and could improve on that record this season. Though Roberson's total playing time at linebacker is a couple of fourth-quarter plays against Stanford, he is ebullient about his new team.

Roberson is perplexed by his transfer to outside linebacker because he has always been the man in the center. Of course he is accepting the dictates of his coaching staff. He still longs for the inside action, however.

"There's more technique, and more containment at this position. I'd rather be inside where you get more contact. You may be only 190 pounds," Rayford theorizes; "but if you want to knock somebody's head off, you're going to do it."

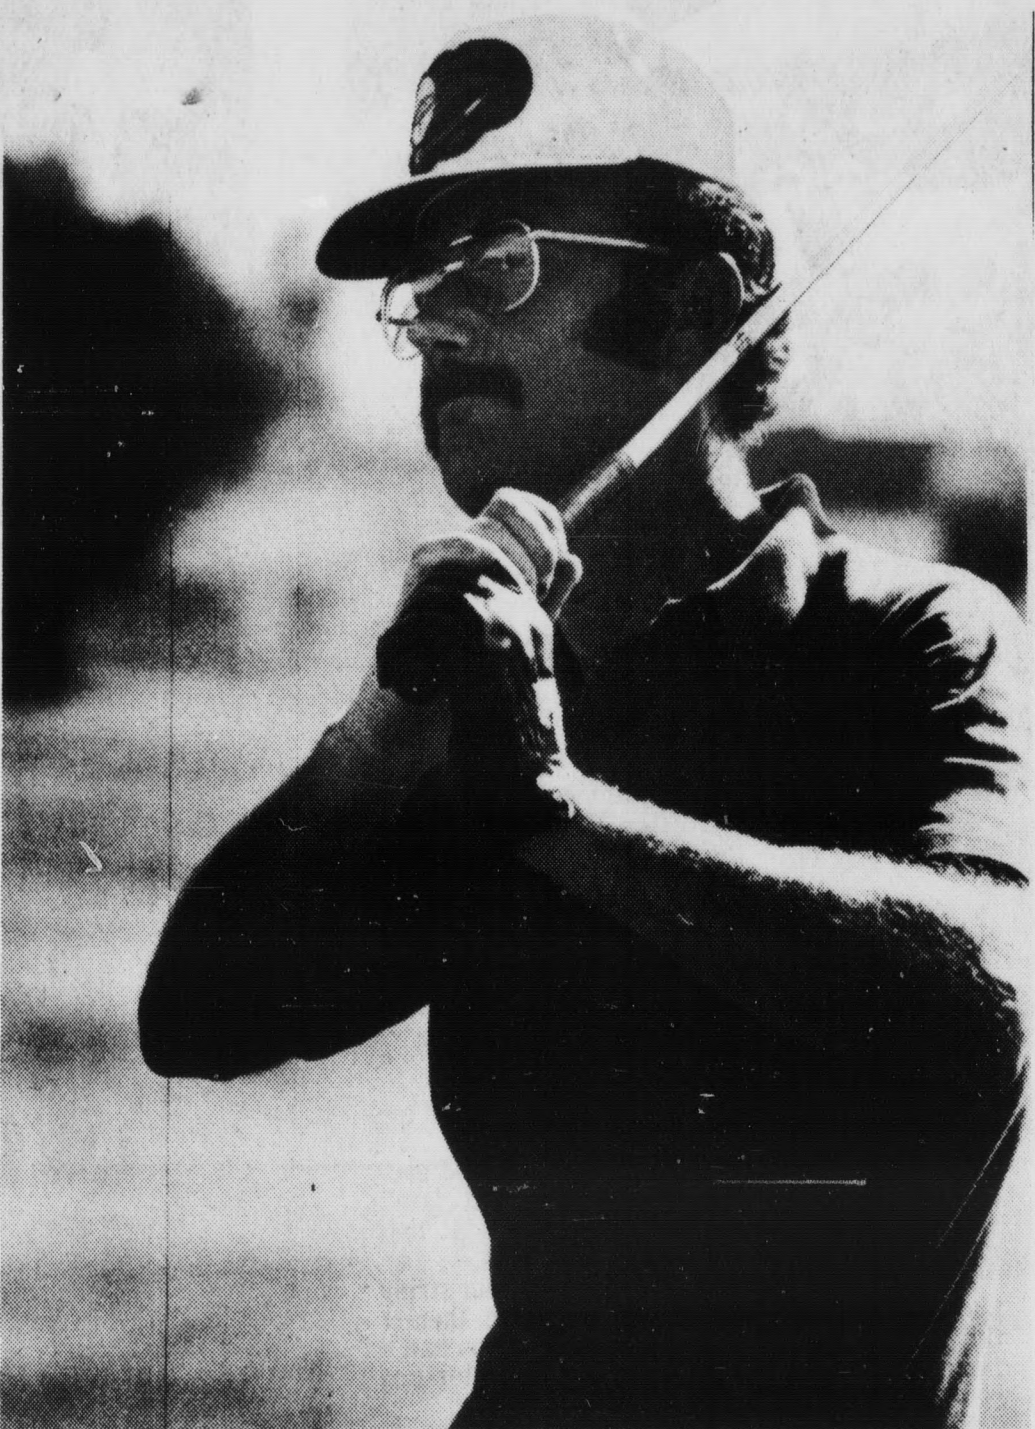

"I feel I'm doing well so far," Ray says. "The coaches seem to be impressed with me, and they say it'll just take more experience. This is tough, you know. All the players are good here."

"We've got some good teams left on the schedule, like Long Beach and San Diego State. But there's one, Cal State Fullerton, whoever that is, and I feel sorry for them."

Spartan coaches have started Roberson on a weight program, and he plans to reach 210 pounds by the summer. No doubt he'll return next fall demanding a starting stint at linebacker.

It's not an easy place for a youngster to find work. San Jose has become home for a lot of fine junior college transfers, and some disenchanted players who left other four-year schools. This has given the Spartans a back log of experience.

It gives Rayford just another step along the road to the bigs.

Leo Hoffman traces path of shot during final round action at Livermore City Golf championship Sunday. Flight competition wound up at Las Positas Golf Course. Bob Hadley, a Las Positas member, fired a two-day net total of 134 to win the first flight. Clubmate Peter Yu was second at 136. In the second flight, Newark's Norm West shot a 133, three strokes ahead of Las Positas' Art Schumacher.

Straw Hat rallies, tops American Realty

American Realty jumped away to a third-quarter lead of 8-0 in its Livermore Flag Football game with Straw Hat Pizza Saturday.

Then Straw Hat's Mark Hartman unleashed a passing barrage that resulted in a 36-8 rout of American.

Hartman passed for five touchdowns in the second half, and completed three conversion passes.

The first scoring strike went to Gino Cardozo, a 14-yarder. Jim Halverson caught the next four on passes of 60, 60, 22 and 12 yards.

American's score came on a two-yard Ed Heinrich to Bob Brown pass. Heinrich was intercepted five times, and Mike Boile had two of the thefts.

Royal Volvo throttled Allied Brokers, 30-0. Ed Miller scored two touchdowns, on a 20-yard pass from Bob Wood and a 20-yarder from Dave Knight. Ernie Moniz ran an interception back 30 yards for a score, and Wood closed out the scoring with a 55-yard bomb to Neil Lann.

C.E. Tyler outlasted Rad Lab Green, 28-12, on the passing of Dan Duke.

Duke threw three touchdown passes, and ran 15 yards for another score. His first pass was a 45-yarder to Raleigh Santos. Jim Brown pulled scoring passes of 40 and 50 yards.

The Lab scored on a 40-yard Robin Green run, and on his pass to Bill Wooten.

Cheese Factory rolled to its third straight victory, bombing Rad Lab Grey, 19-0.

Man-Caused Headaches Are Children-Caused

To further the theory that many a chronically recurring headache originated in the neck, a Livermore chiropractor has studied headache prone children.

They all had recurring headaches of adult type without apparent cause.

Dr. W. H. Hoffert, D.C., who has given years to the riddle of headaches, reports his results after extensive case history evaluation. He became interested in children because so many adult patients trace their chronic headaches to childhood and because children's necks are subject to hazards unknown to adults.

Children wrestle and their necks get twisted. Children fall from bicycles and sleds, sometimes on their neck. Children can get hit on their neck with baseball bats and other sticks.

Pain and stiffness in the neck disappear in a day or two and the injury is forgotten.

But that slight injury can be permanent and flower periodically into headaches, according to theory.

The spine has a curve in it, the "lordotic curve." A twisted neck could lessen or sharpen the curve. Or a mild neck injury could be to the ligaments.

"The neck must be considered a prime suspect in every headache case of unknown origin in children as well as adults," Dr. Hoffert reports.

"And pain killers aren't the answer for either adults or their offspring. The Band-Aide approach to the recurring headache is ridiculous. Remember, you can't cover them over forever."

Dr. Hoffert urges chiropractic care for headaches, pointing to chiropractic's track record in immediate and sympathetic care.

Dr. Hoffert maintains chiropractic offices at 2602 First Street, Livermore, Ca. Telephone 447-8800.

Children's art corner: A bountiful offering of crafts to make and toys to play on

Rubber-glove "udder" on sawhorse "cow" tickles Patrick Talty

First you string the noodle, then the button. . . Two-year-old waits patiently to get a bead in edgewise.

It was a weekend for magicians who pulled endless scarves from cans . . . pine trees that "ate" balloons . . . red and black and yellow paint that turned your face into a cat's or a monster's.

It was a weekend for patiently dipping your string into melted wax . . . 15 times in the white, then 15 times in the blue . . . over and over until you had a fat candle that somebody carved into glorious striped curves and curls.

It was Festival '75. The grownups thought of it as an arts and crafts exhibit, but the small people knew better. Sitting in the sunshine on a bale of hay, listening to a country band, they knew all of this was just for them.

They knew it was for the special delectation of the under-12 set that somebody was selling — for only a quarter — one-pound hunks of soapstone you could carve with a knife or etch with a nail.

They knew those grab-bags full of pottery medallions and beads were filled up by somebody who knows how kids love decoration.

Not to mention the counters spread with glittering minerals. The pottery demonstrations. The lady from Byron who showed all comers how to work her lovable puppets.

And, since it was a Bicentennial festival too, there were ladies in colonial garb spinning rough yarn from fluffy wool, and small girls in Betsy Ross caps showing other kids how to weave on a table-sized loom.

When you got jaded with all that, you went to the children's art corner to make hobby-horses and clothespin dolls and necklaces — and to wait in line for your turn to milk the sawhorse cow with the rubber-glove udder.

It was a weekend for kids.

For Tuesday, Oct. 7, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're especially sharp in business and commercial matters today. Profit is likely if you use your insights wisely.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A loyal and forceful acquaintance will have some good things to say about you to others. Her words carry weight.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're up to handling tasks today that you'd normally shy away from. Roll up your sleeves. Get going early.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Members of the opposite sex will find you even more fascinating than usual today. Don't be surprised if you're complimented by one you'd least expect to do so.

LEO (July 23-Sept. 22) The concerns of those in your charge will take priority over personal goals today. You'll do for them what they can't do for themselves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your powers of concentration are extremely acute today. Mental chores should be a snap for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your chances for adding something to your resources look very good today. However, you'll have to assert yourself to acquire it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be extra-conscious of your appearance today. You'll be noticed wherever you go. If you make a good impression, it will be a lasting one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Pull the strings from behind the scenes today. What you hope to achieve can be done by letting others think it's their idea.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your friends will be leaning on you today a bit more than usual, so be prepared to assume some of their burdens.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be overly concerned if you find yourself in a competitive situation today. Your track time will be swifter than that of your opponent.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Profit from your past experiences today. Don't fall back on bad habit patterns that caused you troubles.

Your Birthday

Oct. 7, 1975
You'll be able to make some changes this coming year to afford you greater material security. Circumstances you can't control will inaugurate the transition.

Pass 3 N.T. Pass 1 N.T.

Pass Opening lead—Q♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It doesn't require any trouble at all to go set at three notrump. All South has to do is to win the spade lead in dummy and go right after diamonds. East will show out. West will take his ace and clear the spades and there will be no way for South to gather in nine tricks.

It is bad luck to find all four diamonds in the West hand, but a careful declarer won't be hurt by this bad luck. He will look over dummy and see that he can always score four diamond tricks unless West holds all four against him. Four in the East hand will be no trouble at all since in that case the 10 spot will be finessable.

Therefore, the careful declarer will win the first spade in his own hand and lead a low diamond.

West will be between Scylla and Charybdis. If he goes right up with the ace of diamonds he will only have one diamond trick and South will make four diamonds; three hearts and two spades. If he ducks, dummy's queen will win. South will leave diamonds to knock out the ace of clubs and make his game with three club tricks.

Ask the Jacobys

A Louisiana reader wants to know if there ever was a reward for being void of trumps.

The answer to this one is that in "Bridge" the first game of the Whist family that allowed for any bidding a player was given a small score in the honor column for "chicane" (notrumps) while "double chicane" (both partners void) was given double that bonus.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Capital improvements outlined

Despite cutback threats Pleasanton plans growth

The proposed reduction in Pleasanton's 1996 population from 76,000 to 48,000 that is suggested by the state and federal government will lop off an estimated $20 million from capital improvement expenditures in the next 20 years, but $40 million worth are still planned for.

The city staff presented the council with a proposed expenditure for the $40 million of capital improvements that remain on schedule despite the state's attempt — by reducing funds to supply water and sewage treatment facilities 8- to cut Pleasanton's eventual population.

1976-1986

The planning staff lists 28 separate street projects for funding in the next 10 years, highlighted by a Las Positas Road overpass and the extension of Peters Avenue from Rose to Division Street.

Upgrading of Black Avenue, Kottinger Drive,

Vineyard Avenue, Abbie Street, Angela Street, St. Marys Street, Santa Rita Road, Fairlands Drive, Highland Oaks Drive, Ingewood Drive, Foothill Road and Division Street are all included in the 10-year plan.

So are 10 new signals, bike lanes, the realignment of Bernal Avenue between the Fairgrounds and First Street and construction of the Del Valle Parkway from Hopyard to Santa Rita.

As for sewers, most of the $5.6 million anticipated will go to two projects — construction of an interceptor line from the present sewage plant to the Valley Community Services District plant and Pleasanton's share of the pipeline to carry off the valley's effluent to the East Bay Discharger's Association.

Ray Street, Main Street, Peters Avenue and Bernal Avenue are all in for new or altered sewer lines as well.

A $600,000 reservoir along Foothill Road tops the $1 million budgeted for water-related capital improvements by 1986. Water mains along Rose Avenue, St. Marys Street, Valley Avenue, Peters Avenue, St. John Street and West Las Positas will also be built.

The $1,577,500 still budgeted for park and recreation facilities includes eight new lighted tennis courts and a lighted softball field as well as Phases III and IV at the Sports Park.

Moller Park, Hansen Park, Amador Valley Community Park, Mission Hill Park, Oakhill Park, Century Park, Vintage Hills Park and Mackay Park are all in line for improvements ranging in value from $30,000 to $100,000.

1986-1996

The biggest item on the 1986-1996 street improvement budget is $1,625,000 for the construction of Valley Avenue from Stanley to Busch Street with a $1.5 million Pico Street extension (from Kottinger to First Street) close behind.

Unspecified maintenance projects and core area repairs also eat up a large chunk of the $16,643,480 planned in street expenditures.

Vineyard Avenue is in line for extensive work, as is Santa Rita Road.

Water mains along Valley Avenue, Foothill Road and Stanley Boulevard are also scheduled for completion by 1996, along with four more lighted tennis courts and one more lighted softball field.

All the city parks are in line for some improvements, with $300,000 planned for development of the final 20 acres of the Sports Park looming as the biggest expenditure.

A fire station in the Vintage Hills area is also scheduled for the 1976-86 decade.

So, what's new?

Pleasanton has a new set of twins. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wallace Bacon of 653 Sylvan Drive welcomed the pair — a boy and a girl — into the world on Sept. 17. They were delivered at Eden Hospital, Castro Valley.

Also born last month at Eden were a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lee Patterson, 4016 Crest Court, Pleasanton, on Sept. 15; and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Delmer JaY Wallage, 8497 Galindo, Dublin, on Sept. 22.

Valley Memorial Hospital, Livermore, reports the following arrivals:

Sept. 12, a boy to Jess and Patricia Janssen, 4820 Primrose Lane, Livermore.

Sept. 22, a boy to Michael and Lynn Monize, 3722 Santa Rita Road, Pleasanton.

Sept. 24, boys to Richard and Janet Buckley, 4317 Claremont Way, Livermore, and Gary and Jacquelyn Keymer, 179 Glacier Drive, Livermore.

Sept. 25, a girl to Steven and Debra Coble, 8607 Beverly Lane, Dublin.

Sept. 26, a boy to John and Laura Forbes, 389 Jensen St., Livermore.

Sept. 27, a girl to Jesse and Nancy Aranda, 1695 Elm St., and Thomas and poris Poole, 5429 Charlotte Way, both in Livermore.

Sept. 28, a girl to Dale and Gayle Montague, 1043 Via Granada, Livermore.

"Safety Town" goes to school

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Unified School District's annual "Safety Town" will be visiting local schools until the end of the month.

The miniature town consists of a dozen buildings, plus streets and crossings, built by the Livermore Junior Women's Club in cooperation with the police and fire departments and school district.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

lasts all year long.

Safety-minded homeowners make sure that heating systems are in good condition and that electrical circuits are not overloaded. They practice good housekeeping, too, so that fires can't find a place to start.

Most important, for the safety-minded, Fire Prevention Week lasts all year long.

Spellbound strollers

Livermore artist Marilyn Calhoun catches the attention of strollers through Carnegie Park in an outdoor demonstration of painting techniques at Livermore's Festival '75 last weekend.

Cardrooms top agenda

MARTINEZ — Cardrooms are before the County Board of Supervisors again.

The board will consider an ordinance pertaining to the transfer of cardroom licenses at its regular meeting Tuesday beginning at 9 a.m. in the county administration building, Pine and Escobar Streets, Martinez.

A local citizen, James Leach, will ask the board to adopt a resolution calling for public information and discussion of the present energy crisis.

Proposals to abandon a portion of Jones Road in the Walnut Creek area and to rename Courtney Lane, Orinda, to Martin L. King Circle will be heard at 10:30 a.m. The board has already received several protests on the proposed street name change.

Cardrooms come up at 9:15 a.m. under the topic of items for determination.

The county counsel's office has drafted an ordinance for the board's approval on transferring cardroom licenses, but notes there are problems with such transactions.

It might be easier, suggests Deputy County Counsel George McClure, to issue new licenses as old ones expire or go defunct or to impose some limitation based on population.

Transfers, the draft ordinance states, may occur subject to the prior approval of the sheriff of the transferee as though he were a new applicant.

Transfers carry a $1,000 fee over the annual $300 license fee.

Employe work permits are not transferable under the draft ordinance. Prospective employes must provide the sheriff with any criminal record they might have, their fingerprints and photographs, and any other data needed to help the background check, as well as a statement that they have lived in the county for at least two years. This must be accompanied by a nonrefundable permit fee of $100.

Cardroom license applicants go through a similar procedure and must also provide the true names and addresses of all persons financially interested in the business and their criminal records, if any.

Seismic safety hearing

Expect hard quake each half century

By JOHN VANLANDINGHAM
Leshner News Bureau

MARTINEZ — A structure built in Contra Costa can be expected to experience at least one damaging earthquake during its useful lifetime, about 50 years.

However, that's about the most precise prediction developers or homebuyers are likely to find in the 106-page draft Seismic Safety Element which is due for a second hearing by County Planning Commissioners Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Some changes or comments on previous public debate of the proposed document, mandated by state law as part of the county general plan, will be presented at the hearing in the county administration building, Pine and Escobar Streets, Martinez.

The element's purpose is to consider the county's seismic activity in decisions regarding land use planning, development and the provision of public improvements.

And Contra Costa is one of the most seismically active areas in the state. Subject to severe ground shaking, ground failure, and flooding from earthquakes occurring in and out of the county, Contra Costa will experience annually more than 500 earthquakes, the draft plan states.

The element is divided into discussions of the county's earthquake activity, hazardous structures and physical facilities and implementation.

Earthquakes are defined as "sudden releases of energy stored in the earth's bedrock."

"The energy originates in the geologic forces that are causing the continents to gradually drift apart on the earth's surface."

Earthquakes occur on the cracks in the bedrock, known as "faults."

A number of faults exist in the county, varying in importance.

Active faults, or those that show signs of movement, include the Hayward and Calaveras faults as the most active. Others are the Antioch, Concord and Pleasanton faults.

Other faults, whose activity status is unclear, include the Pinole, Bolinger, Las Trampas, Franklin, Southampton, Clayton-Marsh Creek, Midland and Mt. Diablo faults. A system of faults surrounds the mountain, but are not known to be active.

The Concord fault in 1955 produced an earthquake with a Richter Scale magnitude of 5.4 and caused nearly $1 million damage, the plan reported.

While faults are important to planning of developments, highways and utilities, the most damage from a major earthquake is caused by ground shaking or related forms of ground failure.

The element discusses the causes and effects of earthquake to give more insight into recommendations on planning for earthquakes.

Ideally the best method is to eliminate all risks, which is beyond the county's resources and technology since it means removal or modification of most existing structures.

The element advocates that risk to human lives is not acceptable while buildings and property may be expendable.

Under the discussion of policies for seismic planning, the element admits the need for further detailed study.

"The implementation of the element and other public programs will result in a continuing reduction of risk to persons and then to property. But it is obvious that since several recommendations point to the need for specific studies, the goals are not going to be accomplished in the near future or with present means."

Pleasanton teacher heads Scout district

PLEASANTON — William R. Bower, a school teacher from Pleasanton has been appointed as chairman of the Twin Valley District of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America for the 1975-76 year.

Bower succeeds Jack Noonan as head of the 2,500 member boy organization in the Valley.

The new district chairman has eight years background in adult scouting locally, serving at various times as a cubmaster, institutional representative, pack committee man, Webelos leader, assistant scoutmaster, assistant district commissioner and unit commissioner. He has two sons in scouting, Allan is a Star Scout and Daniel is a First Class Scout. He and his wife, Wilma, also have another son, David, age 6 and Alicia, 9.

Help for those past 40

'Jobs for older women' is new groups aim

DUBLIN — May Hernandez knows what it's like to be over 40, newly divorced or widowed (or just looking for a new lifestyle) and needing a job.

"It's just terrible," she explains. "There's discrimination because of your age. Besides, probably you haven't worked in the past 10 or 20 years and you're really rusty."

"As a result, there are women in the area looking for all kinds of work — nurses as well as secretaries — women in every field — and they can't get a job because of their special problems."

That's why May Hernandez volunteers with a Berkeley-based organization which just opened a Hayward office to serve the South County and the Valley.

"Jobs for Older Women" is what the group is called, and its aim is just that: Helping the over-40's, who after all have a quarter of a century left to offer society as a worker and who want to become productive.

"Jobs for Older Women" is based in the Womens Center, 25036 Hilary St., Hayward. A helpful group meeting is held the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

According to Mrs. Hernandez, this week's meeting (from 1-3 p.m. in the Women's Center) will be led by Charlotte Anderson, a job counselor with the California State Employment Development Department.

It's a free service and one that promises to blossom into a larger project, thanks to SB 825, the "displaced homemakers bill" that recently passed in the state Legislature.

Job training and possibly a Valley center may come out of the new funding, Mrs. Hernandez hopes.

Further information on "Jobs for Older Women" may be obtained from the center at 537-2112.

Texas training

Edward A. Moomau, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Moomau of Livermore, is presently in the Delayed Enlistment Program of the U.S. Air Force awaiting orders to report for transitional training at San Antonio, Texas.
